Microscope ID Session, Wednesday, 14 March, 01:00-4:00
Aberdeen University, Zoology building room B06

The Grampian Spider Group is holding a microscope ID session at the Zoology building at Aberdeen University. This is to help people learn the practical skills needed to identify the species of a spider. The session is available to anyone who is interested in spiders (you don't have to be in the group) and is open to all abilities. If you have any spiders that you want to identify then please bring them along otherwise there will be plenty of samples to look at. Please also bring along any LED torches for extra lighting.
